

CLARK MILLS OPEN WITH NON-UNION MEN

Shaffer in Calling the Strike Asks Aid of All Union Men.

Wheeling May Be a Storm Center--Mill Men Quit With a Rush Strike Order Goes Into Effect Saturday--Gompers Will Not Talk at Present.

New York, Aug. 7.—Advices here today are that the steel trust officials received with satisfaction the Amalgamated order to strike. They say many of the mills are not profitable and should be closed any way. When the strike is on they will decide what mills to keep closed and concentrate their energies on the resumption of business in plants most favorably situated.

Clark Mills Start Up.

Pittsburg, Aug. 7.—Consternation reigned among the strikers when they learned that Captain Louis T. Brown, general superintendent of the Clark mill, 38th street had stolen a march on them and started up the 10 and 12 inch mills. A few of the strike-to unearth the non-unionists. Under the direction of Vice President Larkins efforts are now making to unionize the 5,200 unorganized employees at the Riverside and Bellaire plants, and it is claimed many accessions are already in evidence.

GOMPERS MUM.

President of the Federation of Labor Evades All Question Put to Him.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 7.—Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor was asked regarding the report that he would go to Pittsburg to confer with President Shaffer upon plans for the rendering of assistance by the federation to the Amalgamated. Mr. Gompers evaded all questions.

THE STRIKE ORDER.

PITTSBURG, PENN., August 7.—As announced in the Advocate's dispatches of yesterday, a general strike order was issued last night by President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association, to the Vice Presidents of the districts in which there are mills owned and operated by the National Steel, National Tube and Federal Steel Companies, as well as to the officials of the lodges in the mills. The text of the order follows:

"BRETHREN: The officials of the United States Steel Trust have refused to recognize as union men those who are now striving for the right to organize. The Executive Board has authorized me to issue a call upon all Amalgamated and other union men, in name and heart, to join in the movement to fight for labor's rights.

"We must fight or give up forever our personal liberties. You will be told that you have signed contracts, but you never agreed to surrender those contracts to the United States Steel Corporation. Its officers think you were sold to them just as the mills were, contracts and all.

"Remember before you agreed to any contract you took an obligation to the Amalgamated Association. It now calls you to help in this hour of need.

"Unless the trouble is settled on or before Saturday, August 10, 1901, the mills will close when the last turn is made on that day.

"Brethren, this is the call to preserve our organization. We trust you and need you. Come and help us, and may right come to a just cause. Fraternally yours, ers were around the plant early and when they saw the two mills in operation they were speechless with surprise and hurried away to inform their comrades. Soon many thronged the works to witness the sight for themselves. The mills started at the regular hour this morning with about 100 men and boys.

No disturbance was made by the strikers.

Mill Men Quit Work with a Rush.

Pittsburg, Aug. 7.—The issuance of the general strike order by Shaffer created great excitement among the members of the trades allied to the Amalgamated Association. At New Castle where the order called the men out last night at midnight, the millmen quit with a rush. The order affects McKeesport harder than any place and that is looked upon to be the storm center.

Wheeling May Be a Storm Center.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 7.—That the Riverside and Bellaire Steel plants of the National Tube and National Steel companies respectively will become storm centers of the great strike seems to be settled. Last night telegrams were received by Wheeling and over the river Amalgamated men stating that 50 or more non-unionists had left Pittsburg for down river points, presumably Wheeling or Bellaire. Not less than 500 Amalgamated men and many of their sympathizers met the 11:45 p. m. Wheeling and Lake Erie train and all other passenger stations were watched, but the non-unionists failed to arrive. The same message was sent to the Amalgamated men of Martin's Ferry, where several hundred of the strikers gathered and went through trains on the Wheeling and Lake Erie and Cleveland and Pittsburg as they arrived, but with a like failure

COUNTRY INUNDATED VIRGINIA'S BIG STORM.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 7.—The country through the southwest is still inundated, and rivers are rapidly rising as the result of yesterday's storm. The cyclone through Norfolk did great damage, the storm having a velocity of 120 miles an hour.

YOUTHFUL PRISONER.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 7.—Bud Joyner, aged 15, was today received at the penitentiary to serve five years for burning the jail at Franklin, in which he was confined for carrying concealed weapons. Joyner and other prisoners were about to be roasted alive when a guard battered down the jail door and released them.

A LIVE WIRE KILLS ONE, HURTS MANY.

New York, Aug. 7.—A live trolley wire broke on Marcy avenue, Brooklyn this afternoon and one end of it fell upon a crowded street car. One boy was instantly killed and four passengers were rendered unconscious. Several others were severely shocked.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 7.—A fresh outbreak of the celebrated Johnson-Wick-er feud in Winston county occurred last night. Robert Moorehead, a young farmer, was killed. His body was riddled with buckshot and left by the roadside. A man named Bennett was killed two weeks ago. The feud thus far has resulted in the death of 14 persons.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 7.—The 13th annual convention of the Catholic abstinence union of America was opened in this city today. The sessions will continue until Saturday.

Warren, O., Aug. 7.—Chas. Soule, who was to have married Miss Jenkins of Brookfield today has been missing three weeks. Miss Jenkins is nearly crazed.

Paris, Aug. 7.—The dispute between France and Turkey as to the ownership of the docks in Constantinople has taken on a serious aspect. Three French battleships are held in readiness to make a demonstration in Turkish waters.

Toledo, Aug. 7.—J. H. Kagy of Findlay was this morning nominated by Democrats for the Senate at Wauseon.

Uncle Sam Will Send War Ships To Colon Owing to the Revolution.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The state department this morning requested the navy department to send a war vessel to Colon on account of the revolution in Colombia. The navy department will send the gunboat Machias. This action is taken because of the reported last night by Consul Gudgeon at Panama to the effect that a trans-isthmian railway train had been interfered with by the insurgents.

Pacific Coast Strike is Growing.

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Five hundred sand teamsters quit work this morning in sympathy with the striking members of the city front federation. The labor leaders are proceeding slowly in the development of plans to make the strike still more effective. The strike order has been extended to include shipping at Benicia and Redwood city. The strikers are incensed at what they call unnecessary roughness on the part of the police in dispersing crowds of peaceable strikers. Both sides fear that trouble will result. The police commissioners have granted 137 more permits to non union men to carry pickets.

MARRIED SIX TIMES

And as Many Times Divorced But Ford is Not Discouraged And He Invested in a License for Seventh Matrimonial Hitch.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—Miss Ruby Wallace is the seventh young woman to promise to love, honor and obey Robert M. Ford of this city.

Ford blew into the Probate Judge's office in the breeziest possible way on Tuesday and demanded a "double surety." The clerk at first objected, saying he was not running the harness department of a general store, but Ford announced that he knew just what he was about, for he had been on the same errand half a dozen times before. He confirmed this statement when the vital question preceding the issuance of a license was asked, declaring that he had been married and divorced just six times, and was anxious to try again.

Mr. Ford is not a member of the elite of this city, although he insists, aged,

CHECK

FOR DENISON'S NEW ATHLETIC PARK IS RECEIVED

FROM F. P. BEAVER OF DAYTON

Burton Case, Chairman of the Committee, Has Raised a Sum of Money to Properly Equip the New Ground. It Will be an Up-to-Date Park in All Respects.

Granville, O., Aug. 7.—The new athletic park of Denison university is now an assured fact. Negotiations have been pending for some time between Burton Case of Granville, chairman of the committee of the trustees on athletics, and Walter Pritchard, for about seven acres of level ground, just south of and adjoining the T. & O. C. railroad station in Granville, and on Tuesday Judge J. M. Swartz received from Judge B. P. McCann of Dayton, the check of F. P. Beaver of Dayton, for $1200, the price asked by Mr. Pritchard.

Today the money was paid over to Mr. Pritchard by Mr. Case and the deed for the park delivered.

Quite a large subscription has been raised by Mr. Case from the alumni and other friends of the college, to prepare and equip the park for the athletic sports of the college, and work will at once be commenced on it, which will consist of building around it a substantial fence, planting trees, making race track, base ball diamond, foot ball field and a substantial amphitheatre for the accommodation of visitors, and in a short time the college will have an athletics park second to none in the country. The college is to be congratulated on the result of Mr. Case's efforts.

Atlantic City, Aug. 7.—Mary Lewis arrived here last night clad in a night-robe and a blanket. She arose from her berth and went to the ladies' drawing room and unbeknown to her the car in which she had been riding was detached from the train, carrying all her clothing to New York.

Indianapolis, Aug. 7.—Jordan and Baxter, who refused to make depositions in the Neely trial today say they do so on the ground that Cuban courts have no jurisdiction in this country.

HERO OF ASHTABULA DISASTER IS DEAD.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Thos. Allen, the hero of the Ashtabula, Ohio, railroad disaster of 1878 is dead at his home here.

At the time of the great accident Allen was driving a hack between the Lake Shore depot and the city of Ashtabula. He was nearing the station on the night of the wreck in a blinding snow storm, when he saw the crash of the high bridge spanning the Ashtabula river, and the sound of the splintering timbers as the Lake Shore train plunged into the icy river told him what had occurred. The driver urged his horses on and soon reached the scene. He seized an ax and for hours he struggled alone cutting the timbers that pinioned the passengers among the debris.

A DOG FOUND THE LOST BABY

It Had Been Lost for Eighteen Hours and Was Fast Asleep in the Underbrush.

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 7.—A farmer's dog found a lost Chicago baby at Gage's Lake Saturday and ended an 18 hours' search. The child had been given up for dead.

Leonie Mader, 3 years old, and her parents were camping on Henry Beak's farm. At 2 o'clock Friday afternoon the child was missing from the camp. An all-night search was unavailing and it was concluded that the child had fallen into the lake. The father was arranging to drag the lake when Mr. Beak's dog attracted his master's attention by its terrific barking, and he followed the dog to a pile of brush, where the baby was found asleep. The happy parents at once paid a liberal price to become the owners of the dog.

SUDDEN DEATH

Of Daniel Mauger Near Kirkersville Wednesday Morning at Age of Eighty-Eight Years.

Kirkersville, O., Aug. 7.—Daniel Mauger, father of the auditor-elect of Fairfield county, and one of the best known men in this section, died unexpectedly this morning, aged 88 years. Mr. Mauger had been at the barn and he entered his house at the farm southwest of town and lay down, complaining of not feeling well. He soon died. The funeral will be held Friday.

As London Sees It.

London, Aug. 7.—This Evening's News in an editorial on the United States Steel strike sees in the strike "a revolution against plutocracy." The paper says: "The great contrast between great wealth and sordid poverty is greater in America than in England. This is accentuated by the vulgar ostentation of American plutocracy. Relations between employees and employer is very bitter as the human factor has been eliminated."

ENGINE BLEW UP.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 7.—An engine used in the construction of a bridge over the Mill river near Fincast, blew up this morning, killing Charles Hays and seriously injuring Henry Barnett.

VISITING

With Hoover Street Friends While Friends and Neighbors Were Hunting About Town for Her.

Mr. Antone Chapin who mysteriously disappeared Monday noon returned all about four o'clock Tuesday afternoon. In accounting for her absence she stated that she had met a family on Hoover street that she had not seen for a long time. She went in and they insisted on her staying for supper and finally persuaded her to remain all night, and up to four o'clock the next day. The neighbors and friends are greatly relieved that she has returned safely.

TODAY'S MARKETS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Today's market closed: September wheat 77 1/4; corn 57 1/4; oats 34 1/4; pork 81 1/2.

Miss Ida Leman and Miss Carrie Kibby left this morning for Buffalo. They will also visit Niagara Falls and the Thousand Islands.

AN IMPENDING WAR BETWEEN COAL TRUSTS.

Giant Combine Said to Have Made a Serious Threat

Against a Little Fifteen Million Dollar Trust--May Force the Indiana Fellows to Sell Out to Morgan--A Secret Meeting Held in Chicago Today.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—An accepted threat resulted in calls for immediate meetings of the directors of the substantial companies. The Chicago-Minook and Far company and other members of the smaller trust held secret meetings to consider the advisability of forming a national coal trust and have been temporarily blocked by the refusal of certain Indiana mine owners to sell out. They have agreed with the Indiana fellows to sell out to Morgan for less than exorbitant prices, today issued an ultimatum to the minor trusts for anyone intending to compete with the larger organization before winter. The magnates of the big trust for the latter will ship the product of the mines of West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky into the Indiana market and undersell the Indiana smelter trust. The trust promoters mines until they are either forced to hold a secret meeting this morning, accept the prices offered for their properties or are ruined. This ominous threat concerning the business transacted.

PRETTY KENTUCKY BRIDE

Caused the Arrest of Husband and Then Begged to Have Him Set Free--Has Plenty of Money and Jewels "To Burn."

New York, Aug. 7.—Arrayed in a fashionable and expensive gown and enough jewels to stock a store. She bedecked with many thousand dollars' worth of showy jewels, Mrs. Selby A. Moore, a strikingly handsome bride road accident on the Pennsylvania of a month, who claims Kentucky as her former home, appeared in the But-ler street (Brooklyn) police court and implored Magistrate Tighe to allow her to withdraw a charge of abandonment she met Moore and fell in love at first husband, William A. Moore.

She was equally anxious last week to obtain the warrant for Moore's arrest, where they were married. The bride res and though she entered the court room with flashing eyes and a firm determination to have him punished to the full extent of the law, her heart went out to him the moment she laid eyes on his face, and she was ready to forgive and forget. She told the Magistrate she was anxious to have her new husband—she had been twice a widow—again, by her side. As he manifested contrition and willingness to be a faithful husband, he was discharged, and the couple fairly skipped arm in arm, out of the court room.

A Woman Aged Eighty-two Years Puts to Rout Fifty Workmen.

THE MISSION OF THE TRUST.

Like a colossal man-eating serpent the poisonous-fanged trust of the present day has crawled into existence. America is its home. Slowly this serpent entwining its deadly coils around the four corners of the republic and already it is squeezing it into a distorted imperialistic mass which bears little semblance to the beautiful, flourishing United States of America of a few years ago. This serpent feeds on the rights of labor and revels in the fall of human happiness, human liberty and popular freedom. Never has this serpent appeared so conspicuously cold-blooded as it does today. This steel strike, which threatens to be the greatest strike the nation has ever known, reveals the true mission of the trust and the gigantic proportions of this serpent. The counter propositions submitted at the conferences between labor and capital in the east reveals the fact that labor asked but for recognition. To this request the trust replies with an emphatic "No." If the trust was to grant that request labor would thus maintain its individuality and be able to demand that it be treated as of human flesh and blood. But the trust would tighten rather than even in a measure relinquish its deadly hold upon labor and hence the fight now on. A billion of dollars and determination face brawn and endurance, and hence hard fought will be the battle. The trust has declared war on labor and labor will defend itself. The question arises here—why cannot these troubles be settled as well before the fight as after? But it seems they cannot. Both sides have confidence in their respective strength and would rather show fight than yield a point. Such fights are a menace to the nation. But they will increase in proportion as the power of the trust increases. It is the mission of the trust to develop, and to devour the fruits of the earth and the fruits of labor. It is the mission of the trust to enrich the trust and to impoverish labor. The trust springs from the hotbeds of injustice and rule by the money power at Washington.

As was taught by Democratic doctrines in 1896, 1900 and today, trusts, if not held in check by the law, will ever grasping for unlimited power and will continue to develop, and the truth of these teachings is shown in the existence of the billion dollar steel trust, the most colossal organization of capital the world has ever known. Trusts come not to do good, but to enrich themselves. If they would do this by fair and honorable means, recognizing labor at least as human and as great as capital and as deserving of respect, they would be tolerated, but as long as they want to live and not let live, they should be heavily controlled and the administration must hold them in check.

MARRIAGE.

Of a Former Licking County Man, Claude Howell, to Miss Lutz in Missouri Recently.

Tuesday's Advocate briefly noted the wedding of a former Licking County man, Claude Howell, son of Wm. Howell, who is well known in this county, to Miss Ethel Lutz. The following notice of the wedding is taken from the Burlington Junction, Mo., Post:

A friend who was present at the wedding kindly contributes the following: Quite a surprise in the way of a wedding was given to the people of this city when it was developed that Mr. Claude Howell and Miss Ethel Lutz, both of Burlington Junction, were united in marriage on Friday evening, July 26, at 9 o'clock.

The ceremony took place at the residence of Rev. D. P. Smith, pastor of the U. B. Church of this place, Rev. Mr. Smith officiating.

On the whole it was a quiet and pretty wedding, only members of the families of the bride and groom being present. Mr. James H. Nicholas, the highly respected and well known furnisher, was best man while Miss Bonnah Mendenhall, the accomplished daughter of Rev. Mendenhall, pastor of the M. E. Church, acted as bridesmaid.

The bride is the beautiful and accomplished young daughter of George E. Lutz, the well known tinner of this place. She was a friend of every one and her kind words and sunny temper brought her in return the profound respect and admiration of every one; while the groom who came here from Ohio over a year ago has gained the respect of the best people of Burlington Junction. He has been selected substitute for the rural free mail delivery of Burlington Junction which office we feel sure he will fill satisfactorily.

Their many friends wish them prosperity and a long useful life.

Behind Our Fan.

The publishers of the Newark Advocate, "the 20th century newspaper of Licking county," a few days ago installed in the Advocate plant a new Cox Duplex Perfecting Webb Press. With the advent of the new press the Advocate was enlarged from a six column eight page paper to seven columns to the page. The Advocate is widely known as a prosperous and up-to-the-times newspaper. It is ably edited and well managed, and is deserving of the success indicated by these progressive moves.—Warren, O., Chronicle.

The Newark Advocate has put in a new and fast press of the most modern make. The Advocate has all along been one of the best daily and weekly papers in Ohio and now it is better than ever.—Coshocton Democrat.

FOR THE CHILDREN

His Keynote of Success.
"There's nothing like giving a boy a little encouragement once in awhile," said a wealthy down town merchant the other day. "I know I owe a great deal to a remark a crabbed old farmer made to me when I was quite small. 'I was trying to split a cross grained hickory log, and as our wood pile was close by the roadside my efforts attracted the notice of a farmer, who stopped his team. 'I was greatly flattered by his attention, because I was the crossiest and surliest man in town and never took any notice of my boys except to sit in his orchard with a shotgun in his hand when the apples were ripe. So I put in my best ticks and covered my hands with blisters, but the log refused to split. I hated to be beaten, but there was no help for it. The old man noticed my chagrin. 'Humph! I thought you'd have to give it up,' he said, with a chuckle. 'I made no reply, but the way that axhead went into that log was a revelation to me. As I drove it into the knots they yielded. There was a cheerful crackle, the sap widened, and soon the halves lay before me, and the farmer drove off discomfited. 'But I never forgot that scene. When I first went into business, I made mistakes, as every young man will do. But whenever I got caught in a doubtful enterprise I remembered that my friends were standing around waiting for the chance to say, 'I thought you'd have to give it up.' 'In spite of himself that old farmer gave me the keynote of my success. 'So you see that if a boy has any grit in him he is bound to profit by the right sort of encouragement, and in that connection, I may remark, a well placed sneer is often worth more than a barrel of taffy.'"

Nobody Knows but Mother.

How many buttons are missing today?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many playthings are strewn in her way?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many tumbles and spoils has she mislaid?
How many bumps on each fat little head?
How many lumps to be caressed and kissed?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many hiccups does she have today?
Nobody knows but mother.
Carelessly hiding themselves in the hay?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many handkerchiefs willfully strayed?
How many ribbons for each little maid?
How, for her sake, is a mother to be paid?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many hiccups does she have in a row?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many stockings, to darn, do you know?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many little torn aprons to mend?
How many hours of toil must she spend?
What is the time when her day's work will end?
Nobody knows but mother.

Spider and Sixpence.

A correspondent sends us a remarkable instance of adaptation of instinct in a trapdoor spider. Says the writer: "A friend of mine noticed near his camp a trapdoor spider run in front of him and pop into its hole, pulling the 'lid' down as it disappeared. The lid seemed so neat and perfect a circle that the man stooped to examine it and found, to his astonishment, that it was a sixpence! There was nothing but silk thread covering the top of the coin, but underneath mud and silk thread were coated on and shaped convex, as usual. The coin had probably been swept out of the tent with rubbish." Commenting on this, a contributor to Nature says: "As is well known, the doors of trapdoor spiders' burrows are typically made of flattened pellets of earth stuck together with silk or other adhesive material. The unique behavior of the spider in question showed no little discrimination on her part touching the suitability as to size, shape and weight of the object selected to fulfill the purpose for which the sixpence was used."—Sydney Bulletin.

Straddle Club.

In this game the players stand in two or more lines, one behind another, with the feet apart, in straddle position. At a signal the leaders of the lines each slide an Indian club between the feet from the front toward the rear of the lines. The last one in each line when he receives the club runs with it to the front, takes position at the head of the line and starts it in his turn. The line wins whose leader returns first to the front. If the club stops on its way to the rear, the player next whom it stops starts it again. If the club is allowed to skip a player, it is counted a foul and must be returned to the player skipped, who then starts it.

Cherry Ripe.

A startling act in the cherry tree. "I have just seen a cherry tree," said he, "and a nice little girl, too. They were up in the morning, cold, early, and the boy's fair hair was curly, curly."

Didn't Suit Him.

A little fellow 4 years of age went to a blacksmith's to see his father's horse shod and was watching closely the work of shoeing. The blacksmith began to pare the horse's hoofs, and thinking this was wrong, the little boy said earnestly, "My pa don't want his horse made any smaller."

A STORY OF A NOSE

It was at the masquerade. Weary with dancing I threw myself into a seat. A pretty blond accidentally touched mine. "I beg your pardon," "The pardon is granted," I said, smiling. I had taken off my mask on account of the oppressive heat and did not object to revealing my identity to the charming person at my side. "How I love poetry," she exclaimed, toying with her fan, "Lucky Titania with a fan! 'Will you make me the subject of a sonnet?'"

"The question came so coquettishly, those eyes gazed into mine so beseechingly, that I involuntarily said, 'Yes, certainly, but I must know your name.' 'My name?' she repeated. 'How stupid! I forgot to tell you. I am the daughter of a nobleman, the Countess de la Roche. Call me Victoria or Jessica.' 'Or Titania?' I suggested. 'But, dear Titania, that ridiculous mask! Let me know who it is that honors me with her society.'"

"No, you will not thank me for showing my features. I assure you I am very ugly." "Impossible!" I cried. "Were a man to venture such an assertion I swear I would punch his head. You ugly? It cannot be."

"Believe me, sir, I am a sight to behold. If you saw my face, you would flee from my presence. I value your company too highly to drive you from my side." "What consummate cruelty!" I exclaimed. "I am sure you are beautiful. I have seen all your features but your nose. Well, I ask in the name of all the powers is it possible for a nose to destroy the combined effect of so many charms? Please remove the mask." "Well," said my fairy, with a merry laugh, "I shall do as you desire. Receive as your just punishment the task of untying my mask."

I was aware of a surprising nervousness as I bent over that delicate head and untied the strings. Then for the next few moments I stood transfixed. What a nose! It was a wonderful freak of nature. The height of our Niagara falls, the immensity of our last river and harbor bill, all dwindle down into insignificance when compared with that nose. It was a sphinx, a pyramid, a monster of such hideous aspect, that I shuddered.

I felt discomfited, and, suddenly recollecting an engagement with a friend, I hastened off without daring to gaze upon my enchantress, who in the meantime was laughing in the most unconcerned manner possible. This female Cyrano de Bergerac had evidently become reconciled to her misfortune. On reaching the foyer I fell into a seat and tried to reflect. "Is the government powerless," I thought, "to prevent such outrages, such terrorism?"

A waiter approached me and asked me if I would have something to eat. Mechanically I gave him an order, which was soon served. While eating I tried to forget the monster I had exorcised. Good heavens! It approached me, the nose, faithfully backed by Titania, leaning upon the arm of a man disguised like an Indian. It was too late to slip under the table, for she had already seen me, and, approaching me with a bewildering smile which took in all her features except her nose, she said:

"How quickly you deserted me. I feared something had happened to you." She laughed. Oh, if the Indian had but laughed! I should have vented my feelings on him, but he was as sober as an owl.

After the first shock was over I felt sorry for the unfortunate creature and rather ashamed of my abrupt conduct. "Will you forgive me," I asked, "for deserting you so unconcernedly?" "Certainly," she replied. "Did I not predict it? You will admit at all events that I am hideous."

"I will admit nothing of the kind," I replied gallantly as I caught a glance of her bright eyes, "that I would suggest an operation."

"Oh, that is simple!" she said merrily. "You see it is a detachable nose. I have merely to pull, see, and off it comes."

Titania gave a gentle pull, and the nose remained in her hand, revealing her true features as pretty as the rest of her face.

Before I had time to recover from my astonishment she had taken the Indian's arm and had disappeared. I sought for her in vain during the entire night, but every trace of her was lost. I returned home disconsolate, chiding myself for a fool, and all night I followed her in my dreams, a fleeting vision of loveliness, with a perfect nose.

Now we met again might form the subject of another and more romantic story, for Titania is now quite happy as Mrs. Selby.—Boston Traveler.

When Stovepipes Were Scarce.

One of the old settlers of Kansas tells the Beloit Gazette of an incident in his pioneer days which illustrates the scarcity of materials with which the early settler had to contend and particularly of that very common household necessity, pipe for stoves. After moving his family into a dugout on his claim the old settler found that he did not have pipe enough to reach through the roof. So the pipe was extended through a window, where it performed its function very well save when the wind was blowing from the direction in which it was pointed. On these occasions the stove would be moved to the other side of the room and the pipe extended through another window, and the old settler says it was a common remark in his household all through the first winter to have some one say, "Come, boys, let's shift the stove over."

Clydesdale Ointment

cure lots of things, but it is especially good for RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA.

It is such a positive cure and so harmless, that it is strange that anyone should suffer these pains when they can get a remedy that is real. No matter how many things you have tried, you will not get the right thing until you get Clydesdale Ointment from your dealer.

CLYDESDALE OINTMENT is so pleasant for the skin that it can be used on an infant. The way it knocks out pain, however, is wonderful.

THE SICK.

Mr. John G. Percy, secretary of the Newark Y. M. C. A., has returned from Chicago. Mr. Percy reports that when he left Chicago Tuesday his little son who was operated upon by a noted Chicago surgeon a few days ago is believed to be getting along nicely. Mrs. Percy remained with him in the hospital at Chicago.

Mrs. Michel Bolton is improving in health, and was able to be out this morning.

Mrs. John Athey who has been seriously ill for the past month, was sent to the St. Francis hospital in Columbus Tuesday by the Helping Hand Band. Mrs. Athey was accompanied by Dr. Koehler.

Summer Complaint.

If the stomach and bowels are free from gaseous and sour fluid accumulations and the habits are regular, your children will go through the heated term without sickness. Dr. Caldwell's syrup Pepsin corrects all such troubles by removing the obscure cause and keeps the system in perfect working order. At Hall's or Johnson's drug stores.

AWAITING EXPLANATION

BY BARRY PAIN.

My doctor says I'm all right. Nevertheless strange things have happened. This for instance:

My cottage was about a quarter of a mile from any house. The nearest was a farmhouse. An old woman came over from there and looked after me in the daytime. At night I was alone. One night the old woman had gone, and I had settled myself down with a whisky and soda for purposes of reference and one of Maudslay's books. It was (I shall be forgetting my own name next)—never mind, the book does not matter. I was reading when there came a sharp double rap at the door. I opened the door wide and saw nobody. I stood for a minute or two looking up and down the road, and then I went back to the room. I said aloud, to reassure myself, which by this time had become necessary, that I had mistaken the sound and that there had been no rap at the door at all. I said this, but I did not believe it. I knew perfectly well that it had been a rap, and even while I was saying it I got the idea that I was not alone. When I opened the door, I had let something in. I looked about, but found nothing and settled down to go on with my reading, and at the same time I felt very distinctly a chilly feeling all around my throat. It was like a band of ice! I did what any sensible man would have done. I told myself that I had been doing too much reading and that by day, after a good sleep, these silly ideas would disappear. I put down my book, lit my candle, blew out the lamp and went up stairs. That night I slept like a top. I felt fresh and good in the morning until the old woman brought in the breakfast. I had been in the habit of letting her talk. You must speak to somebody or other.

"The old woman said, 'You had a visitor last night, didn't you, sir?'"

"No," I said and wished that I could believe myself. "What makes you think that?"

She was rather vague in her reply. She said that she had been a long time in service and that when she came into a room first thing in the morning she always seemed to know how many had sat there the night before. It might be the way the furniture had been moved. She didn't know. I pressed her on this point, but could get no more satisfactory reply.

Nothing else of any importance to the story happened that day. But in the evening as I sat reading I became suddenly aware that some one was seated in the chair opposite to me and, which was worse, that if I raised my eyes from my book I should see him. I could not help it. I looked up and saw a horrible thing. It was a man in evening dress, with a terribly white shirt front bulging out of his waistcoat. The hands hung down by the sides of the chair, coarse and fat. What made the thing horrible was the stained cloth over the neck. There was no head. It was not only the horror of the presence—I knew what it was there for and what it wanted.

I was so frightened that for some minutes it was physically impossible for me to do what I knew I ought to do, but at last I got up, crossed over and sat down in the chair which appeared to be occupied. But it was a comforting feeling when I had assured myself that this was pure illusion. I could pull myself together sufficiently to get up stairs to bed. It is funny how illogical one can be on these occasions. I locked my door and pulled some heavy furniture before it.

I had not been in bed two minutes before I heard sounds down stairs. I heard some one go from the room where I had been sitting to the kitchen at the back. The footsteps returned and began to ascend the stair. I could hear them creaking. Outside the door there was a clink of metal, as of something being put down on the floor. For a few moments everything was still. Then I was tapped lightly on the shoulder and heard a husky whisper, "I want your head."

I was out of bed in a moment and got a light as soon as my shaking hands would let me. I was very badly scared. I dressed quickly, looking around every second. I pulled back the furniture, unlocked the door and went out. As I did so my foot struck against something. I looked down and saw a heavy meat chopper and a large knife lying there. They were not there when I went to bed and were usually kept in the kitchen. I dashed down the stairs and out of the house. I do not mind owning that I ran for a long time.

I left in the morning by the earliest train. But I shall go back as soon as possible if I can get any one to go with me. It ought to be interesting. In the meantime it has the peculiarity that no one of the ordinary explanations will cover the whole story.—Black and White.

How It Might Have Worked.

If the telephone had been in use in Paul Revere's day, a writer in the Boston Journal thinks that instead of riding he might have employed that instrument as follows: "Hello! Yes. Give me—hello! What's the matter with you, central? Give me—yes—I want Concord 381—yes, Concord—Concord—three, eight, one—yes, that's it—waiting—waiting—oh, is that you, Concord? Yes? Well, this is Paul Revere. No—no, Revere—Boston. Hey? Never mind who I am. Well, don't get away with me, or I'll report you. Oh, you are, are you? Well, just tell your folks that the British are landing here in Boston in strong force. Yes, that's it. And just ring up Lexington with you, and tell them. Thank you. Good-bye!"

N. Y. to Texas by Auto.

Speeding along the shortest route from New York to Texas is as trim a locomobile as was ever seen in this country. It is called "The Unknown," and aboard it carries Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Decker and her husband. The pair are making a seven weeks' trip to Texas. They carry very little baggage aboard. Mrs. Decker is the skipper of the craft, her husband being a mere passenger.

John the 15 months old son of William Croneman, was fatally burned yesterday afternoon by his clothing catching fire from a gas stove while his mother was absent.

Ormond Cox, appointed a naval cadet at Annapolis by Congressman Van Voorhis, was given a farewell reception by his neighbors at Rix Mills, prior to his departure for Annapolis. He won the prize in a competitive examination over a dozen competitors.

The five year old child of Lawrence Sims of Triadelphia, died from the effects of poison drank from a bottle which it found among a box of old toys given it by a neighbor. What was in the bottle is not known, but there is no suspicion that it was purposely placed in possession of the child.

A Travel Point Pan-American Exposition

THE Pan-American, to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., May 1 to Nov. 1, will be one of the greatest and most beautiful expositions the world has known. To enjoy its beauties will be worth any effort. The question of traveling to and from Buffalo is one to be carefully considered. When you buy your ticket you will wish to feel satisfied that you have selected wisely. You will desire to travel by the route affording the most of comfort and interest. The return trip, too, must be considered, as after you have done the Exposition, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and vicinity, you'll be tired and wish to reach home quickly.

The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway

as the leading line to Buffalo by reason of the frequency and certainty of its service and through direct connections at Chicago, Toledo, Sandusky, Cleveland and other cities along its line will best meet every requirement in journeying to the Pan-American from the west, southwest and a greater part of south. Its service is the most complete and frequent of any line, and it is recognized as the most comfortable of American railways. The country traversed is the fairest and richest of the Middle States—the most interesting on the way to Buffalo. Our "Book of Trains" contains full information about Lake Shore service. Sent free on request. Look it through carefully. A. J. SMITH, G. P. & T. A., Cleveland, O.

GOV. CANDLER WILL NOT INTERFERE IF BOUT IS "SPARRING MATCH."

It is now practically settled that a strong effort will be made to effect a match between Champion James J. Jeffries and Gus Kuhnle at Savannah, Ga., in the early fall. The bout will be for the world's championship and the limit will be twenty-five rounds. It is believed that Gov. Candler will allow the fight to proceed provided Georgia's very liberal prizefighting law is not transgressed.

SERVICES

AT THE BURIAL OF EMPRESS WILL BE SIMPLE.

This is in Accordance With Her Expressed Wish—Pope Sends Message of Sympathy.

Cronberg, Aug. 7.—The funeral services for the late Dowager Empress Frederick will be very simple, according to her expressed wish.

Thursday the royal family will attend the funeral service in the castle, at which the bishop of Ripon, who was summoned by the empress, will officiate. Only the immediate family will be present. Saturday evening the coffin will be escorted from Friedrichshof to the Protestant church in Cronberg by a torchlight procession, followed by the royal family on foot. Sunday afternoon, a funeral service will be held in the presence of the family of the empress, her household and a few of her friends and other privileged persons. It is expected that King Edward will be present.

The royal family will go to Potsdam Sunday evening and the body will be taken there Monday evening. The funeral service in the mausoleum at Friedland, Potsdam, will be held Tuesday. As it was the empress' wish that there should be no state ceremony, the service will not be attended by all the German royalty. It will be as simple as possible.

Emperor William has received a telegram of sympathy from the pope.

Wife-Beater Whipped.
Kokomo, Ind., Aug. 7.—Sixteen whitechaps called at the home of Willard Gore, near Poplar Grove, took him to the woods, tied him to a tree and whipped him until the blood ran. Gore, it is alleged, was abusive to his wife and 4-year-old son. His wife is a helpless invalid with a sore foot. Gore would tantalize her by kicking her on the sore foot until she was thrown into lockjaw. The men all wore masks over their faces. Amid screams and great agony Gore promised to be good to his family. He was told that if he did not return to his home they would hang him by the neck until he was dead.

Down on Yankee Schemes.
Vienna, Aug. 7.—At a largely attended meeting of shoemakers here it was decided in spite of the announcement that an American firm would not open a branch in Vienna, that the shoemakers should continue the anti-American crusade with the view of guarding against a recrudescence of "Yankee schemes." No definite decision was arrived at as to what form the next action of the shoemakers will take.

Civil Government at Manila.
Manila, Aug. 7.—The military government of Manila ceased today and municipal affairs were taken over by three commissioners, similar to the government in the District of Columbia. The president is a Filipino, Colonel Herrera, the others are Messrs. Baldwin and Tuthill. The chief of police is George Curry, a former officer of the Tenth Cavalry. Mr. Huseman is the city attorney.

Drowned in a Well.
Eaton, O., Aug. 7.—Miss Emma Tizard, daughter of the late W. R. Tizard, suicided by leaping into the well at the family home. She had been afflicted with melancholia due to ill health. A brother stationed at the door to prevent her escape fell asleep lying upon the floor. She stepped over his body and reached the well without waking him.

Jury Disagreed.
Dallas, Tex., Aug. 7.—The jury in the John Kipper murder case disagreed and was discharged after being out since last Saturday. Kipper is a negro member of the Twenty-Second United States Infantry, charged with murder in connection with the attack on El Paso city prison. He is still in jail in Dallas without bond.

Stirred Up Cuban Officeholders.

Havana, Aug. 7.—The Cuban constitutional convention met Tuesday but made no progress. Senator Juan Guaberto Gomez moved an amendment to the electoral law proposing that all public officials who are candidates in the coming elections, shall cease to exercise their office a month before the elections take place. This proposal was violently opposed by members of the convention who are officeholders, those chiefly affected being the civil governors of provinces. The amendment was rejected by a vote of 12 to 10.

Shot His Father and Died.

Marlin, Tex., Aug. 7.—Porter Sawyer, 13, shot and killed his father, and was overcome by heat and died trying to escape. The boy is said to have been angry at his father for whipping a horse, and slipping up from behind him killed him with a rifle. Father and son were buried in same grave.

M'LAURIN

REFUSES TO RESIGN HIS SEAT IN THE SENATE.

South Carolina Senator's Hot Retort to the Action of the Tillman Followers.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 7.—Senator McLauren has sent his reply to the action of the Democratic state committee reading him out of the party and demanding his resignation. In his letter to the state committee Mr. McLauren says: "I hold my commission from the Democratic voters of South Carolina. I recognize no authority but theirs, take no orders from any source but them, and shall in due course appeal to them for judgment on my course as a senator and my character as a man and a Democrat. Personally I am indifferent to your action, because nobody has made you my master or censor, and I regard what you have done as merely expressing the malice and the fears of one individual, Senator R. R. Tillman. But for this always evident and independent influence, ordinary respect for the proprieties would probably have prevented the four of your party, who are my declared competitors for the seat I now have the honor to occupy, from attempting to use the power entrusted to you by your party to remove a rival from your path."

"I shall ask the people to decide between the man who has tried to help cotton factories, open highways of commerce and command for the Democratic party the confidence and respect of business and laboring elements north and south, and that of the man whose conduct and record has been to sink the party to disrepute and impotence. I shall ask them to say whether they prefer the senator who has tried to retain for South Carolina the honor and dignity won by a long line of illustrious sons and glorious deeds, or the senator who has postured as a buffoon and bully, and who proclaimed on the floor of the senate that he represented a constituency of ballot-box stuffers and murderers who wanted their share of the stealings."

"I desire to proclaim to the world that you do not represent the intelligence of the Democracy of the people of South Carolina, and to you and Senator Tillman that he has never been my master and shall never be, that he shall not escape the vengeance that must surely fall upon him when the people have been made to understand his motives, his methods, his debased character and his shameful record. To that grand conservator of free government the reserved patriotism and common sense of the people, I make my appeal against partisan intolerance and tyranny."

Republicans Reel Gorman.

Baltimore, Aug. 7.—The Republican state convention nominated Hermann S. Platt of Baltimore for state controller and Thomas Parran of Calver county for clerk of the court of appeals, both by acclamation. Interest centered mainly in the platform and the speeches, all of which teemed with denunciation of Democracy in general and former United States Senator Gorman in particular. The "white supremacy" issued raised by the Democrats in the platform adopted by them last week was ignored in the platform, but came in for unfavorable mention in the speeches.

Streetscars Stoned.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 7.—A streetcar was fired on by unknown parties. One bullet wounded the motorman on the arm and others struck the car. Men with handkerchiefs tied over their faces stoned another car, breaking five windows, but hurting no one. There was no active development in the strike situation. The acts of violence were attributed to sympathizers. All cars are being operated by non-union men.

Kidnaped the Leaders.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 7.—Altogether 15 leaders of the Escambray Cigar-makers' union have been seized and spirited away. It is impossible to learn what becomes of the men, many of whom have been prominent here in labor circles. Those to whom they are intrusted refuse to say what disposition has been made of them, but simply say they are being sent where they can not get back to Tampa in a long time. The director of La Federación, a Spanish paper published in the interest of the Resistance, was seized. He made a vigorous fight but was overpowered and had to go like the others. A committee of leading business men notified soup houses that they must close and feed no more people. A proclamation was issued by the citizens ordering the labor agitators to leave Tampa.

As a Food For the Skin.

To Make it Smooth, Healthy and Beautiful, Dr. Chase's Ointment is Hailed by Thousands of Fair Women.

Every woman, no matter how beautiful her skin, feels at times of some irritation to overcome the redness and roughness, and to remove the pimples, black heads and skin eruptions.

Provides relief from the disgusting eruptions, blotches, pimples, and are positively infallible because they clog up the pores of the skin.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is a food for the skin. It is readily absorbed and thoroughly penetrates and cures every skin disease, making the skin smooth, soft and clear.

No woman's skin is complete without Dr. Chase's Ointment, for besides being the most perfect skin beautifier obtainable it can be used in a variety of different ways. It absolutely cures eczema, redness and itching to which women are especially subject. The ointment does not cause pain when applied, but soothes the skin and inflamed surface. It immediately stops itching of the skin when applied.

When the feet are sore and chafed with walking or standing long in the Ointment takes out the swelling and allays the inflammation in a surprisingly short time. Then for burns, scalds and every sort of chafing, irritation or eruption of the skin, Dr. Chase's Ointment affords a safe and certain cure. It has come to be indispensable in scores of thousands of homes in the United States. It does not cause pain when applied; to cents a box, at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. SWARM OF BEES

STING A THORNVILLE MAN TO DESPERATION.

Had Sought Refuge in Mail Box.—People Thought the Man Mad as He Ran.

Thornville, Ohio, Aug. 7.—With a swarm of bees about his ears, and a crowd of men, boys and dogs in hot pursuit, Lewis Wengardner, being brought to here, ran madly through the fields, shortly after the noon hour yesterday and disappeared in the woods.

His bees sought refuge in Wengardner's free delivery mail box. When he went for his mail they poured out in thousands. They covered his neck and face, crawled beneath his clothes and clung to his hair and whiskers, coming to his ears in such numbers that he was unable to see or hear. He tried to smother them with his arms and shouting for help. He ran after mail hour and a number of people were crowded on a corner. As the men dashed through the fields a bad game chase. They could not see the bees and thought the man was crazy. To add to the excitement some on horseback had lunged into a horse and a crowd of people for the neighborhood. Wengardner led the chase through the woods, meadows and brush, his clothes being rapidly torn to shreds. The crowd grew larger as each harvest field was passed. Two miles from the starting point the chase came to an abrupt end, the subject plunging into Rush creek. No explanation was then needed. The bees shaken from the man attacked his followers and the crowd scattered. When Wengardner returned home his face was a swollen beyond recognition and his eyes were almost closed.

APPENDICITIS.

Some Facts Regarding Its Rapid Increase.

Appendicitis among Americans is certainly increasing and while this is probably due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often directly traceable to constipation. Appendicitis is caused by extraneous matter entering the vermiform appendix and not by the swallowing of seeds. If the digestive organs are kept in perfect condition so the food is duly assimilated and the bowels move gently at least once a day, appendicitis will never develop. Don't take chances. Regular doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before meals will strengthen the organs of digestion, your appetite will be good, constipation disappears and you feel better in every way. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not relax the bowels by irritation, but by curing indigestion, the cause of constipation. F. D. Hall and E. I. Johnson sell it in 50c and 100c bottles, under a positive guarantee. Write for book of testimonials to Pepsin Syrup Co., Dept. 3, Monticello, Ill.

JUDGE HUNTER

WAS THE BALANCE WHEEL IN THE HELTER-ROCHE TRIAL.

Lawyer With Wit and Good Nature of a Peace Maker—A Coshocton Paper's Tribute.

(Coshocton Democrat.)

The Helter Roche trial that has been in progress in the Common Pleas court room the last two weeks has furnished scraps of rich entertainment to the large audiences in some of the surprising bits of information elicited from witnesses. It often came out so quaint, and in such original manner of expression, that looks of wonder, surprise and surprise and sometimes outbursts of laughter came involuntarily from the interested spectators, to say nothing of the salacious morsels of scandalous conduct detailed by some of the witnesses, extending some times to self-incrimination. Another feature of the entertainment was the discussions, contentions, wranglings and belligerent quarrels of the lawyers. Judge Eason had his patience tried almost beyond endurance by the acrimonious contentions of the attorneys participating in the trial. Some of them ought to have been fined and sent to jail for the disgraceful quarreling and frittering away of time. But Judge Eason was lenient, getting along by dealing out severe reprimands. The Judge of the Court was greatly aided, and fist-cliff fights many times averted by the pleasant manners, ready witticisms and good natured remarks of ex-Judge S. M. Hunter of Newark, one of the attorneys for the plaintiff. Just when there were the most violent ebullitions of temper from James, Adams, Merrell, Rausche and others, and threats of personal violence darkened the air, Mr. Hunter was generally ready with some mollifying remark or good humored comment that acted as oil on the troubled waters and aided Judge Eason in restoring order. Hunter's stock of Scotch-Irish wit seems inexhaustible and it comes almost with the quickness of electricity, at just the right time, to turn the asperities of wrangling lawyers into peaceful channels, and frequently into hearty laughter. He was ten years a Judge on the Common Pleas bench and is a ripe lawyer. He has a mind of rare versatility; is fertile in resource, ready and forcible in speech with a somewhat florid style of oratory that makes him most effective advocate. He is a fighter at every point in the trial of a case—not a mean brutish one, but alert in his client's interests and persistent for his rights. The attorney on the other side who concludes that Hunter will tamely submit to imposition and insult is sure to wake up to the fact that he miscalculated.

It is no exaggeration to say that Judge Hunter was not much short of a star performer in the legal battles of the case, especially in the ready wit with which he mollified the sharp asperities between lawyers and prevented personal encounters. With the large audience constantly in attendance throughout the two weeks of this trial he grew in favor from the first day to the closing of the testimony on last Saturday.

Popular Johnny Reiff.

Little Johnny Reiff is one of the best of the American jockeys now winning races in England. His wonderful ability to pilot horses to victory has made him a prime favorite with the British turfgoers.

Reiff is a native of Wichita, Kan., and he has been riding abroad, with his brother, Lester Reiff, about a year and a half.

Lester Reiff added to his fame by winning the English Derby, the classic race of the year, on William C. Whitney's best bred thoroughbred Volodyvski. The Reiff boys together have earned and won for themselves almost $300,000 since they left America.

Johnny Reiff is known as "The Midget." He is smaller than the usual run of jockeys, but that does not affect his riding. He is very popular with King Edward VII, for whom he has ridden at times.

The Lawn Tennis Boom.

Lawn tennis has gained enormously in popularity this year. Many more persons are playing tennis now than in any of the last five years. Clubs are starting up all over, and every one who ever took an interest in the game is talking lawn tennis to the exclusion of many other pastimes.

Even golf seems to be losing its hold on all but the most ardent players. Hot weather and golf do not go well together because of the long waits it entails. Besides, golf is regarded as a sport for all the year, while tennis is dependent upon fair weather for its season.

Whatever the cause, and many ascribe it to the international matches to be played in this country next year as well as to the playing of the Americans in England this year, the fact is plain that there is a wonderful boom in lawn tennis. Many sporting houses throughout the country have been caught napping and cannot supply the demands for rackets and even balls. One of the largest concerns in America recently was at a loss when telegrams began to reach the main office asking for more haste in filling orders.

Factories employed on other lines of goods have been fitted up hastily to make tennis goods to fill the demand. There is an evident desire on the part of the sporting goods dealers to keep the facts away from the public. It is ample proof that there is a great revival in lawn tennis.

THE NEWARK IRON AND STEEL PLANT

Is Now in Full Operation With Increased Force of Skilled Men.

Made Its First Run of Steel Castings From New Open Hearth Furnace Tuesday Afternoon—A Bright Future for This Newark Industry.

A reporter of the Advocate was informed that the Newark Iron and Steel company would make a run of steel casting from its new open hearth furnace and he visited the plant on Tuesday afternoon.

The original building of this plant is 160x90 feet and contains a large amount of heavy machinery such as could be easily utilized in a rolling or sheet mill, and Messrs. Goldsborough and Morris entertain the idea of incorporating that industry in their business, and the amount of capital which they think it would require to add that branch of business would strike one as being rather insignificant when compared with the possible results. They believe their housings are amply heavy enough for the ordinary sheet mill. Their annealing furnaces could, without very much additional expense, be made applicable to this line of work. They have large, powerful engines, boilers, cranes and all of the necessary machinery required in a first class mill. The addition to the plant is 75x90. The foundry floor is covered with flasks ready for the metal, and at about 4 o'clock the furnace was tapped and the molten metal run into a 15 ton ladle, which was carried by a massive 25 ton hydraulic crane, and it was a sight which amply repaid the trouble in getting to their works. The men who handled the ladle and the molten metal seem to be experienced in their line of business, and, to see with what ease so large a crane with its load of 10 tons in the ladle could be raised and lowered by the men at the valve was surprising. The whole run was poured in about 20 minutes and Mr. Morris told the reporter that he was satisfied that a very great majority of the castings would be perfect, which, considering the fact that they are compelled to use a number of wooden flasks because their new iron flasks are not bored and bolted as yet, was very encouraging.

When the Newark Iron and Steel company commenced operations early in the spring of this year the officers of the company anticipated that they would be five or six months in erecting and perfecting their foundry department. The first work was done on April 2 and the first gray iron run for making flasks about July 20, and the first steel run was made on July 31. From what information Mr. Morris gave the reporter the open hearth furnace is one of the very smallest fact, the representatives of the natural gas company who were present when the run was being made, informed the writer that the consumption of gas by the open hearth furnace was much smaller than the ordinary glass companies use when in operation. Mr. Goldsborough feels sanguine that if the necessary capital can be secured that their whole nine acres of land, which they own in fee, will be covered with buildings, embracing an open hearth furnace, sheet mills, mills for manufacturing hydraulic and high pressure fittings, oil well supplies and oil well specialties. Mr. Goldsborough has served a life time in the oil country and is familiar with all the requirements of that trade, while Mr. Morris has an experience of a dozen years in the making of steel castings, building open hearth furnaces and superintending and managing works of that kind. With such a combination of diversified experience the Advocate falls to see wherein the Newark Iron and Steel Company can possibly fail to be one of the greatest industries of our city. Mr. Goldsborough says that the company owns a patent for converting white hot iron into steel, and he states that the officers of the company were so convinced of the feasibility of this patent that they authorized and instructed him to pay $7,500 for the shop right of this patent. The impression seems to have gained ground that the Newark Iron and Steel company is now at work on this patent, but such is not the case as they are devoting all of their time and attention to the making of steel castings which is one of the great standard industries of the world. How soon the working of their patent will commence will depend very largely on their future business. The Advocate is informed that without soliciting orders for steel castings, they now have sold 600 or 700 tons, which will take them some 60 days to deliver. Mr. Morris, the mechanical head of the company, has erected the buildings, furnace, cranes, accumulators, pumps and everything attached or belonging to the foundry department of the company, without the assistance of any contractors, which has very largely cheapened the cost of construction. The men at work in the plant are fast acquiring that knowledge which is so essential to the easy working of any kind of a mechanical plant.

Young Wolverton Says He Crawled and Stole a Quantity of Goods From Stephens' Racket Store—Clothing, Watches and Razors Recovered.

About a week ago, the racket store of G. L. and A. S. Stephan, corner of West Main and Fourth streets, was burglarized and considerable booty was secured. The matter has been kept very quiet with the result that a young man named Ernest Wolverton, aged about 17 years, was arrested by Officers Ziegler and Rinehart on suspicion of having committed the burglary. The young man was taken to the City Prison where he broke down and confessed that he had entered the store by crawling through the front transom at 3 o'clock in the morning. He had taken a suit of clothes, about a dozen razors and some other articles. Nearly all the stolen property was recovered. He had a hearing before Mayor Atherton on Tuesday afternoon and was bound over to the Common Pleas Court in the sum of $200.

THE ARIZONA KICKER

ITS EDITOR DASHES OFF SOME MORE LIVELY ITEMS.

He Never Forgets the Existence of His Esteemed Contemporary and Always Makes It Clear to His Readers That He Can't Be Bluffed.

(Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.)

They don't want any grammar in their at Pine Hill. The Journal of that burg says, "Mr. Johnson has went," etc., and his subscribers rather like it. The first puff of the twentieth century to reach Pine Hill will bring the news that The Journal "has went up the spout."

Some one in Salt Lake who signs himself "Revenge" has written us to say that he is on our trail and will have the pleasure of planting us within the next two months. We trust that he will shoot us as gently as possible.

Our esteemed contemporary announces that its editor saw seven bears on Wolf creek one day last week. If those seven bears saw him and yet permitted him to get away, they deserve to starve to death in the midst of plenty. However, what he saw was seven jack-ass rabbits, and they are wondering why he didn't stop to frisk with them.

High society in Giveadam Gulch will neither depart for the mountains nor the seashore this summer, but remain right at home and try to be satisfied with a back yard hammock and a front yard croquet set. There was so much spring poker that everybody with any pretensions to style is dead broke.

We entirely forgot last week to mention the fact that the circulation of The Kicker is now a thousand times greater than the combined circulation of all the newspapers in the world and is still gaining at the rate of a million per week. If our readers will excuse us this time, we will see that it does not happen again.

We were figuring it up the other day and found that since its founding The Kicker has been sued for libel in sums amounting to over $4,000,000. Not one of these suits ever came to trial or lost us a cent. A call on a lawyer has always resulted in a discontinuance, though in a few instances the gun had to be poked into his ear.

Neither as mayor, postmaster, senator, deputy United States marshal, editor, forester nor private individual can we take a bluff. No doubt we made a holy show of ourself the other day when we mounted a bucking broncho on Apache avenue and stuck to the saddle until he lay down and wept from sheer chagrin, but Colonel Childers had said that our teeth were loose in the gums, and we had to prove to the contrary.

It is with sorrow that we chronicle an event occurring on Tuesday afternoon last. When we had planted 13 individuals in our private editorial graveyard, we sincerely hoped and trusted that the limit had been reached, and for the last two years we have done our best to avoid adding to the number. On several occasions, as many of our people know, we have let a scrub man bustle us around a corner rather than send his unprepared soul into eternity. At 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon as we were negligently reclining against the door of the postoffice, having only peace and good will in our hearts, a man named Bascomb came along and announced that our carcass had cumbered the earth long enough. Any enemy he may have had was developed by our refusal six months ago to publish a poem he had written on "The Mule." At one time and another he has thrown out dark hints, but we have given them no thought. The other day, however, he opened fire on us with his words and had fired four bullets all around us before we discovered that he really meant business. We were then forced to pull and shoot, and it is needless to say that we were fully exonerated by the coroner's jury and by public opinion. We ordered the undertaker to spare no reasonable expense, and we paid for six hacks to make up a funeral procession. The deified deceased was given site No. 14 in our grounds, and yesterday we had his headstone up and a rosebush planted on his grave. No one could have done better by him, and many would have done nothing at all, but we cannot help but feel grieved and cast down. We have no ambition to kill off the people of Arizona to stock a private graveyard, nor are we a mau looking for a fuss to show skill with a gun. We were cornered and had to do it, but from this time on all poems, no matter whether relating to the mule, the horse, the cowboy or anything else living or dead, will be promptly published in the hope of avoiding further tragedies.

A Delightful Trip.

This is the season of the year when all who can do so endeavor to take a short vacation, and considerable thought is devoted to determining where that vacation shall be spent. This season the bulk of the travel seems to be to the seashore, and many Newark people are planning to visit the seashore, and a rare opportunity will be afforded of doing so on Thursday, August 8, when the Pennsylvania Lines will run one of their annual excursions, tickets being offered on that date to ten of the most popular resorts on the Atlantic coast, viz: Atlantic City, Cape May, Annapolis, Avalon, Holly Beach, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Wildwood, New Jersey, Maryland and Rehoboth, Delaware. The round trip to either of these delightful summer havens, will be $12 from Newark.

The return ticket on all tickets will be valid for 15 days, including date of sale. For these special excursions passenger service through Philadelphia to Atlantic City will be provided, that excursionists may go through to that resort without stopping from the train. For particulars apply to J. L. Worth, Newark, O.

Property Owners Are Said to be Dissatisfied With Basis Upon Which Rebates Were Estimated.

(Ohio State Journal.)

The board of arbitrators for the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction company met with Director Cussins of the department of accounts Tuesday in conference to the rebates to be paid property owners along the route of the road. No definite action will be taken in the controversy until the matter is brought to the attention of the board of directors of the company at the meeting next Monday.

An inspection of the consents to the right of way, which are in the possession of the city clerk, showed that a number of property owners had specifically stated that the rebates were to be paid on the basis of original cost of the street improvement. The ordinance giving the company the right to operate within the corporate limits provides for the payment of rebates in accordance with the present value of the streets and it is thought a number of law suits will result. The board of arbitrators has practically completed its work and has made all calculations in accordance with the provisions of the ordinance.

Careful Prescription Work

Have you ever thought what that means?

Suppose your tailor would make a suit from shoddy cloth. The clothes wouldn't hang or wear well even though cut correctly. So in prescriptions good service means more than being careful about weight and measure. It means carefulness long before your prescription is brought to us. It means that we have been careful as to purity when buying chemicals, and have exercised care in making all those liquids medicines which we keep ready for use on our shelves and in our closets. We are careful in every step of prescription work.

HAVE A TOOTH

It's been troubling you this long while. Perhaps it's partly decayed. A slight cold starts it aching furiously. The tooth next to it may be becoming decayed because of its decaying neighbor. The best thing for you to do is to let me examine your teeth. If they need nothing I will tell you so. If it be best to extract or if a cap will save the tooth I will tell you that. Whatever your teeth need I will do it for you—do it painless—too. This is something to be sure.
